You can help us keep this check list current by sending information of any unusual sightings to <arctic_refuge@fws.gov>. Information about species not on the list, or those that have abundance or status listed as not documented, would be especially valuable. A photograph is the best way to document an usual sighting. To help you record bird sightings, daily observation sheets are available on our website at <<http://arctic.fws.gov/birdobs.htm>>.

Arctic National Wildlife Refuge Bird List

197 bird species have been recorded on the Arctic Refuge. This list describes their status and abundance. Many birds migrate outside of the Refuge in the winter, so unless otherwise noted the information is for spring, summer or fall.

REGIONS OF THE REFUGE

- Coastal Plain – The area between the coast and the Brooks Range. This area is sometimes split in to the coast (the lagoons, barrier islands and Beaufort Sea areas) and inland (upland areas near the foothills of the Brooks Range).
- Brooks Range – The mountains, valleys, and foothills north and south of the continental divide.
- South Side – The foothills, taiga and boreal forest south of the Brooks Range.

STATUS

- Permanent Resident – Present throughout the year and breeds in the area.
- Summer Resident – Only present during the period from May to September.
- Migrant – Travels through on the way to wintering or breeding areas.
- Breeder – Documented as a breeding species.
- Visitor – Present as a non-breeding species.
- * – Not Documented.

ABUNDANCE

- Abundant – Very numerous in suitable habitats.
- Common – Very likely to be seen or heard in suitable habitats.
- Fairly Common – Numerous but not always present in suitable habitats.
- Uncommon – Occurs regularly, but not always observed either because of lower abundance or secretive behaviors.
- Rare – Occurs regularly but in very small numbers so not commonly observed.
- Casual – Beyond its normal range but irregularly observed.
- Accidental – Far from its normal range. Further observations unlikely.
